

MACHINE SHOWED MORE ENTHUSIASM THAN DISCRETION

It Will Cost Lots of Money Serving Notices On Voters Who Had Right to Register and Against Whom There Was No Evidence

HEARING BY COUNTY JUDGE

If the good citizens of Paducah could have looked into the office of the county judge this morning, and witnessed the farce which was being played there by Democratic machine workers, under the guise of purging the registration books, they would have been enlightened. Out of 200 returns made by officers, but 12 showed that they had been served, while many appeared who had not been served with summons. Of the whole lot of cases disposed of seven were stricken from the registration books. One of these had removed from his precinct since registering, one had since died and five failed to appear.

Judge Lightfoot was fair in his rulings, and told the attorneys they were attending a legal proceeding and not making stump speeches. One important point was brought out in the hearing. Judge Lightfoot said, if a voter proves he resides in the precinct in which he is registered, and has a right to vote, it does not disqualify him, that he mistook the number of his residence.

The whole scheme of the machine, under the tutelage of Glen Whittemore, was made apparent today. By marking returns, "not found," they get the voter challenged marked "doubtful," so he will have to be sworn election day. That may frighten timid voters and create through the party organ the impression of fraud. Nearly every voter in the city could be made "doubtful" in this manner.

Instead of making their returns each day in the registration cases the special deputies, serving them, clung to the summonses until the name of each challenged voter was called out, so that the Republicans would not know what to expect. However, several on whose summonses the return "not found" was made, got wind of the fact and appeared to prove their right to vote. Judge Lightfoot acted justly and permitted the Republicans an hour to get the men in court.

George Walters, Luther Graham, and Seneer are the challengers, and W. A. Berry, Eugene Graves, W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., and Campbell Flournoy are attorneys for the challengers. Bagby and Martin represent the Republican committee.

There will be another hearing November 4. So far the Republicans have made no challenges. There may be challenges every day, and voters are warned to appear on the date for which the summons calls to prove their right to vote.

This promiscuous summoning of voters with the poor service, is costing somebody a cent or apiece for service, and it may be the taxpayers of McCracken county. The costs probably will exceed $100.

The Democratic machine workers picked out the names of 200 Republicans and challenged them. The list was not left with Judge Lightfoot and no returns were made before the hearing came up this morning. Consequently, the Republicans were unable to learn who were on the list. Returns were made "not found" in cases, in which the Republican workers absolutely knew the residence and identity of the challenged. No service being had on the voter challenged, he had no notice of the hearing and was not present. He was therefore marked doubtful.

A list of some 25 or 30 of those summoned for November 4, was left with Judge Lightfoot. They were marked "not found." Those voters, although "not found" by the deputies, will be at the hearing November 4, showing that they are to be found if wanted. Those who were summoned and appeared at the court house today were not questioned, indicating that the machine challengers did not think the men were illegally registered, but only desired to take a chance on their not being present.

Greene and Gaylor to Prison. Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 30.—The United States circuit court of appeals sitting here today denied a rehearing to Greene and Gaylor, the New York contractors who were convicted of defrauding the government in connection with contracts for improving the harbor of Savannah, Ga. The contractors now will have to serve their penitentiary sentence.

Former Governor Simon B. Buckner States His Views on the Issues in the Current Campaign

Glen Lilly, Hart Co., Ky., Oct. 23, 1907.

The Hon. Henry B. Hines, Chairman Democratic State Campaign Committee, Louisville, Ky. Dear Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 19th inst., in which you appeal to me as a "Confederate soldier to rally to the support of the candidates of the Democracy in a contest with the common enemy, the Republican party." Let me thank you for the kindly interest you take that I shall properly cast my vote, and for the two printed circulars you inclose to enlighten my judgment.

One of them purports to be a comparison between the records of the two parties in their administration of the government of this commonwealth. I have perused it with care, and if I may be permitted to say so, it seems to me more remarkable for the suppression of important facts than for an impartial declaration of the whole truth. If you wish me to view it as the special plea of an advocate to exonerate his client by making "the work appear the better reason," I must concede that it is a circular of some ingenuity. But if you wish me to consider it as a fair and impartial exposition of the matters discussed, I am forced to the conclusion that it is entitled to little consideration. I do not find my judgment at all enlightened by such a plea.

The Confederate Soldier in Kentucky. The other circular is the expression of an intelligent gentleman, based upon the opinions of a dozen or more most excellent citizens, as to how the majority of ex-Confederate soldiers will cast their votes in the coming election. Now you should expect that this expression of opinion shall control the vote of any man I am at a loss to conceive. The Kentucky Confederate soldiers, as a body, possessed great individuality of character, and at the inception of the civil war thought for themselves, formed their own conclusions and acted as duty prompted them; and no better or truer soldier ever marched under a banner. When the cause they had espoused had failed and they resumed their allegiance to a restored government, history has shown that no better citizens ever lived within our boundaries. I assume that these citizens will act in the future as they have done in the past, and will follow their convictions of public duty, and I do not propose to be an exception to this rule.

But neither of the circulars which you send me throws any light upon the issues in this political campaign. There is no question of national policy involved. It is purely a contest within the state between two classes of its citizens; the one composed of citizens who have been associated in political belief with different political parties, but contending now for the preservation of our Republican institutions; the other, chiefly of citizens who heretofore affiliated with the Democratic party, but have now abandoned its principles and are following practices which threaten the very existence of our republic.

The Holy Pilgrims. Their organization is suggestive of one which was formed in medieval times. A company of pious men, styling themselves "The Holy Pilgrims," began their wanderings through the world to impress the benighted minds of others with a sense of right, justice and virtue, and to preach the doctrine of peace and good will to all men. But after pursuing this purpose for a time, it occurred to a number of

JUDGE GROSSCUP IS INDICTED FOR TRACTION CRASH

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Judge Peter S. Grosscup, senior United States circuit judge, is under arrest on fourteen counts charging manslaughter. Judge Grosscup, with Marshall E. Sampson, receiver of the Chicago Union Traction company, Arthur W. Underwood, secretary; L. C. Ross, treasurer; Edgar Potter, president; Frederick Moore, superintendent, and director, and Charles Botts, motorman of the Mattoon and Charleston Interurban railroad, were indicted by the Cook county grand jury and held in bonds of $5,000 each, except Botts whose bond is $1,000.

Mattoon and Charleston both reported that officers were on their way to serve the warrants on the accused men, who are held on charges of criminal negligence in connection with the wreck on the Interurban line August 30, in which fifteen persons were killed.

Boy Hunter Badly Injured. New Richmond, Wis., Oct. 30.—Fred Legrid, aged 15, of Alden, probably fatally wounded himself while hunting today.

CURB FOR PARK

The park commissioners have selected the granite curbing to be used on the Yeiser street park site, and it will be ordered shipped at once, so the work of placing it can be done this fall. It will require approximately 650 feet of granite for the curb.

AMOUNT OF MAIL

A few weeks ago the postoffice was directed to count all of the mail going through the local office for one week, so the department can approximate the volume of business being done and to use it as a basis in arriving at the compensation to be paid the railroads. The average for Paducah was 13,000 pieces of all classes of matter a day, 78,000 pieces a week, which is an excellent showing in the estimation of the local office.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The members and directors of the Commercial club are called to meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the club's headquarters, Sixth street and Broadway, to take action on the future of the organization. Mr. Saunders, A. Fowler is acting secretary and a permanent officer is to be selected and plans for the future conduct of the club outlined.

LOSES ONLY SON.

Infant Child of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Latham Dies.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Oct. 30.—While John C. Latham, millionaire banker, of New York, was en route home after a business trip to this city, his baby son, John C. Latham, Jr., died at the residence of his parents in New York.

The child was two and one-half years old and had been ill several weeks but not seriously. His condition became suddenly worse and he died Sunday just a few hours before his father reached home. The body will arrive in Hopkinsville Wednesday evening and will be interred the following day in the Latham mausoleum. Mr. Latham and his wife, who was formerly Miss Elsie Gaylord, of Louisville, will accompany the body to this city. The child was their only son.

NEARLY HUNDRED VOTERS REGISTER BY MAKING OATH

Up to 2 o'clock the supplemental registration had not come up to the anticipations of the workers of either party. It was expected that about 200 would register in the clerk's office. There were 98 certificates issued in the three days, 61 to Democrats, 36 to Republicans, and one to an independent.

Warehouseman Held. W. S. O'Brien, the warehouseman, was held yesterday to the grand jury by Magistrate Charles Emery, on the charge of violating the warehouseman's law.

Asks $1,000,000 Back Taxes. Columbus, O., Oct. 30.—Attorney General Ellis has sent notice to 26 steam and street railway companies in Ohio, whose franchises are being exercised by holding companies, claiming for the state $1,000,000 back taxes. The attorney general says these companies have not paid taxes under the Willis law, which assesses 1 per cent on the capital stock, or under the Cole law, which assesses one-tenth of one per cent on the gross receipts of public service corporations.

NEW CONVERT TO PEANUTS; IT'S A 565 POUND DUDGE.

Aurora, Ill., Oct. 30.—Justice Peter Klees, Aurora's 565 pound police court judge, has capitulated to the peanut through the efforts of Dr. T. J. Allen, who is now in the twelfth day of his sixty day test. A loss of some hundredweights of his under-sized flesh is promised the judge.

Justice Klees is not the only convert to the peanut diet, as a coterie of old men have organized a peanut eating club, seeking rejuvenation.

With the consciousness that he is aiding Aurora, comes an elevation of a half pound in Dr. Allen's weight. He now tips the scales at 148½ against 160 when he began.

RAILROAD SUE FOR WORKING MEN OVERTIME.

Mexico, Mo., Oct. 30.—Suit was filed in the Audrain circuit court Saturday by the prosecuting attorney for the state of Missouri, seeking $1,000 against the Wabash Railroad company for the alleged violation of the statute which provides that when a train crew has worked sixteen hours within the previous twenty-four it shall be unlawful for the railroad company to call out any of the crew for work before they have had eight hours' rest.

The crew of the freight train which ran into Wabash No. 19 here last February will be called as witnesses in the case. This is the first case to be tried under the statute, which was passed by the Missouri legislature two years ago.

ED FRANKS SAYS WOODSON TOLD BIG TRUST FUND

Louisville, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Collector Franks, of Owensboro, said this morning that Urey Woodson told him of the $15,000 contribution by the tobacco trust to the Democratic campaign fund, and Postmaster Sinclair says Campbell Cantrill told him the same thing.

Rosie Kinder Dies. Rosie Kinder, the 16-year-old daughter of J. W. Kinder, of 1011 South Fourth street, died this morning at 5 o'clock. The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the residence.

MISS HERBST

Miss Concordia Herbst, 23 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Herbst, 1108 Tennessee street, died this morning at 10:30 o'clock at her home, after a lingering illness. She was a graduate of the High school of the class of 1905, when she graduated with honors. She was a devoted member of the German Lutheran church and a teacher in the Sunday school. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence and at 3 o'clock at the church, the Rev. William Grother officiating. The burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

APPEAL GRANTED TO CITY IN BOYLE CASE

The cases of the city against Hugh Boyle for violating the Sunday closing laws and the question of the legality of the revocation of his license by Mayor Yeiser will not be carried to the court of appeals unless the general council should order it done. The attorneys for the city this morning asked for an appeal, which was granted, but it was only to allow the case to be carried to the court should the council so order. Two other cases against Boyle in which the attorneys of both sides agree to abide by the final decision of the one now pending, were filed away with leave to reinstate.

Grain Market.

Cincinnati, Oct. 30.—Wheat, 98; corn, 58½; oats, 47½.

Charles Johnson Injured. Fulton, Ky., Oct. 30.—While doing some switching in the south yard of the Illinois Central railroad last night, Charles Johnson, a young flagman, made a misstep and his foot went beneath the wheel.

RAISE NO BURLEY THIS YEAR AGREE TOBACCO GROWERS

Peaceful Army Rides Through Counties, Persuading Men Not To Sell Any of Crop Until Old One is Disposed of—All But One County Vote

BARN IS BURNED IN DAVIES

Calhoun, Ky., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Five hundred growers of this and adjoining counties met at Livermore, this county, last night and agreed to ride today through McLean county, visiting buyers and urging them to quit their fields, and persuading growers to join the pool.

Winchester, Ky., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—With only Harrison county voting against it, the executive committee of the Burley Growers' association decided last night not to grow any crop in 1908.

Eminence, Ky., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—A peaceful army of planters invaded Henry county to prevent the sale of any more tobacco until the old crop is sold.

Tobacco Barn Burned. Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—A big tobacco barn of William Green, near Curdsville, this county, was burned last night. A large amount of tobacco and property were destroyed by the incendiaries. Green was not a member of the society of equity.

ELEVEN UNKNOWN DANCES BY BEETHOVEN FOUND.

Berlin, Oct. 30.—An interesting musical find is reported by the Tageblatt. It consists of eleven unknown dances by Beethoven, composed in 1819 for friends forming a musical society at Moding, a suburb of Vienna. The dances were found at Leipzig. They are orchestral and for seven instruments, and it is said will be shortly published.

To Hold Cotton for Fifteen Cents. Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 30.—President Charles S. Barrett, of the National Farmers' Union, today issued a call for meetings of all county and parish unions on November 9, to arrange for holding cotton for a minimum of fifteen cents. In this call President Barrett urges the farmers to hold together now for that price, as a firm stand at this time will bring the result they desire.

South Can Help East. New Orleans, La., Oct. 30.—That the south is financially safe and in a position to benefit greatly the other portion of the United States, was the opinion expressed today by New Orleans bankers and business men. The immense exports of cotton and also sugar and rice are relied on shortly to bring in gold from abroad.

Explosion Breaks Gas Mains. Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 30.—The local gas company has found leaks in its mains caused by the shock of the Fontanet powder mill explosion. Three residences in the country have been burned as a result of defective flues, owing to the explosion.

EGAN'S DIVISION SAID TO HAVE WON CONDITION PRIZE

While no official announcement has been made it is understood that the Louisville division has again carried off honors for having the best cared for track on the entire system of the Illinois Central railroad, and the first and second prizes for the best sections will go to Sections 1 and 2, nearest Louisville. The special, bearing the high officials of the road, was here yesterday and left in the morning for Nashville, covering the last division to be inspected. The winning of the honors for the second time is a high compliment to Superintendent Egan, of the Louisville division, and one which that popular official is justly proud, as is every employee of the roads along this division.

ANOTHER STORM OVER GALVESTON CARRIES DEATH

Town in Turkestan Buried Under Landslide Caused By Recent Earthquakes and Fifteen Thousand People are Killed in Disaster.

THIRTEEN KILLED IN WRECK

New York, Oct. 30.—A message from Houston, Texas, says a big storm visited Galveston and that several lives were lost. The message says the report could not be confirmed, as communication was cut off. Mr. Ernest Reade, shrdluetonn

Fifteen Thousand Buried. London, Oct. 30.—A dispatch from Tashkend, Turkestan, says the town of Bokhara, was destroyed and the entire population of 15,000 buried by a mountain slide, following a recent earthquake there.

Thirteen Killed in Wreck. Lahore, Ind., Oct. 30.—Thirteen were killed and eleven seriously injured in a collision between a passenger and a freight train on the Northwestern railway. The crash is said to have been due to a switchman's error. The accident was the second on the same road within a week in which there was loss of life.

Alfonso in London. London, Oct. 30.—The king and queen of Spain arrived in London today. They were met at the station by members of the English royal family and the Spanish ambassador to Great Britain. They drove at once to Kensington palace.

Emperor Takes a Walk. Vienna, Oct. 30.—Emperor Francis Joseph, who has been ill for the last four weeks, took his first open air promenade since the beginning of his sickness in Schoenbrunn park today. His majesty suffered no ill effects from the exercise.

Married in This City. Miss Mary Ellen Davis, of Ballard county, and Mr. John A. Farris, of Salem, Livingston county, were married this morning at 9:30 at the Eubanks hotel, Sixth and Washington streets, by the Rev. J. L. Perryman. Mr. and Mrs. Farris will leave this afternoon for Salem to make their home there, where the groom is a prominent business man.

Fires Many Shots at Husband. East Liverpool, O., Oct. 30.—After Mrs. Bert Brady first took a shot at her husband as he lay in bed this morning because he did not get up for breakfast he ducked and started for the barn in his night clothes. The woman laid siege, and every time Brady showed his head she shot at him. The barn door was punctured with holes. Brady wasn't hit, but was almost frozen. Mrs. Brady was arrested for discharging firearms in the city limits.

NEW MURRELL BLOCK

Architect Lassiter is drawing plans for the new building Dr. Murrell will erect on the site of the American Express company building, which was wrecked in a storm on Labor Day, and the contract for it will probably be let next Wednesday. The building is to be two stories high. The ground floor will be occupied by the express company and the second floor will be for offices.

COUNCIL MEETING

A special meeting of the board of councilmen has been called for tonight by Mayor Yeiser, in order that the consideration of the salary revision ordinance may be begun. City Solicitor Campbell stated today that the measure is already for introduction. It is probable also that the Hugh Boyle case and reference to the date for presenting the silver service to the gunboat Paducah will be brought up by Mayor Yeiser.

CONTINUES HIS WALK

Kennebeck, Maine, Oct. 30.—Fresh from a short night's rest after the first 25 miles of his Portland to Chicago tramp, Edward Payson Weston, the 69-year-old pedestrian, resumed his walk at 5:30 o'clock today. He expects to reach the night at Newburyport. Yesterday's trip was made in mud and rain. He expects to beat his own record of forty years ago. Today's schedule calls for 55 miles.

THEATRICAL NOTES

Elaborate.
Perce R. Benton's elaborate production, "A Cowboy Girl," is the next attraction at the Kentucky November 1. Press and public speak of the latest Benton success in the highest terms. Many new features will be introduced. The complete production, including the original cast, scenery and properties down to the smallest detail will be used by this company.

"The Bondman," which last night received its premiere American production at the Olympic theater, reaches the flood-tide mark of melodrama, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Sponsored by three high priests of melodrama, Hall Caine, author; William A. Brady, producer, and Wilton Lackaye, player, this was to have been expected.

Hall Caine has done his melodramatic best to make it so, surpassing even his own record of days gone by. William A. Brady seems to have broken his own record as a producer of "smashing" melodrama. Wilton Lackaye, as Jason, outplays his own Swedish arch-melodramatist of the "Trilby" era.

And the story is there all right, only Hall Caine, in the third act, so unreservedly saturates his stage in melodrama that the audience recoils somewhat from the shock. The scene in the convict sulphur mines is sheer, crass, unabashed melodrama of the sort that demands an utter surrender to the superficial and artificial, a long apprenticeship in "thrilling" at the creek of stage machinery wheels, to make it a go. The darkened stage, gradually lightening, the sulphurous smoke, the lurid lightning flashes, the doleful processional entrance of the convicts, their groans and cries of suffering, the emphasized and exaggerated cruelty of their guards and governor, the arrival of the story at that point of poignancy where one brother is commanded to apply the whip of disciplinary punishment to the back of the other, the refusal and revolt, the condemnation of both to the hazardous task of opening a new mine by explosion, the blowing up of the whole shebang, the ensuing rescue of Sunlocks by Jason—there's melodrama by the bucketful for you. The house applauded the tumultuous close of this act, but not with the sincerity so plainly apparent in the applause which had followed the fall of the first act curtain.

A Rally of Heart-Interest.
But it was clearly a case of a perilously melodramatic "stroke" sandwiched between better things, because the fourth act, which brings the story to its close, undeniably regained for "The Bondman" the hold on the audience's favor which had been won by the first act, and, in a degree, held good by the second. It is in the fourth act that the Jason of Mr. Lackaye attains his fullest artistic stature. Jason's renunciation of happiness and of life in behalf of his brother, the touching scenes between the now blind Michael Sunlocks and Greeba, his wife, the heart-moving close of the story, with Sunlocks and Greeba saved and Jason remaining a prisoner on the lonely isle, bondman for his brother, all these emotional appeals to the audience met with the sincerest response and the final curtain went down on what is by far the strongest moment of this play.

Mr. Lackaye plays the role of Jason with a correct conception of its changing demands upon his art. It is a big and virile part, calling for precisely the vigorous treatment which he gives it, and there is some reason to believe that it may become one of the memorable character-creations of Lackaye's career. Miss Elsie Ferguson made a pleasing Greeba, nevertheless, and the Michael of Mr. Sidney Ayres was a strong and manful portrayal. Two admirable bits of character work were done by Ethelbert Hales as Father Ferati and Hal De Forest as the old grandfather of the Fair brother household. The production was typical of Mr. Brady, even to the cows that lent "atmosphere" to the farmyard scene preceding the Manx fete in the second act.

"Parsifal" Costumes.
The costuming of characters in "Parsifal," where the period of the story and the number of people in the cast and on the stage as more supernumeraries enter into the estimate of cost, requires a great deal of money. In the great ensemble scenes, where companies of knights and their retainers are equipped in chain armor, this is easily apparent. Some of these chain armor suits represent hundreds of dollars and weigh so much that it requires a man of fine physique to wear one of them gracefully.

OMAHA MAYOR MAY CLAP
LID ON SUNDAY NEWSPAPERS.
Omaha, Neb., Oct. 30.—Mayor Dahlman today promised the full measure of his assistance in giving Omaha a puritanical Sunday. He announced that he would comply with the demand for the rigid enforcement of the Sunday observance law just as soon as the city legal department could furnish him with a list of the forms of labor or amusement which are prohibited.

The demand for more "lid" comes from the saloon interests, in retaliation for the closing of the saloons on Sunday. In explanation of his course Mayor Dahlman said: "I have no alternative but to enforce all the laws governing Sunday observance. If it is not broad enough I'll see that the list is made to cover everything." Sunday newspapers are to be prohibited.

WORKING BORDERS

ARMY OF EQUITY HAS ABOUT COVERED DAVIES.

Trouble Feared When Farmers Attempt to Deliver Tobacco Already Sold.

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 30.—A majority of the "Army of Equity" went into camp last night at the little town of Buford, on the Davies, Ohio and McLean county line. The companies worked around the borders of Davies county. However, two companies were worked toward Owensboro and came to the city and reported to Gen. Robinson.

A meeting, attended by about fifty of the "Day-riders" was held at the court house. No one without the password was admitted to the meeting. The tobacco planters of this county are still greatly excited over the situation. Many of them have made preparations to defend their property in case that the threat of the coming of a "second army for war" is carried out. It is believed that the tobacco deliveries will begin in Owensboro the latter part of November and if there is trouble it will come at that time.

Out of Sight.
"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by all druggists 25c.

BABY ARRIVAL TIES UP ESTATE.
Heirs to Quarter of a Million Dollars Must Wait Twenty-one Years

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 30.—Notice has been filed with the United States court here of the birth of another grandchild to Samuel Vinton, who died in 1861, leaving his estate subject to the control and supervision of the court.

By Vinton's will this was to continue until all his grandchildren reach 21 years. By the arrival of the newborn the judicial supervision will go on for another twenty-one year period.

The principal part of the estate consists in coal lands in the eastern part of the state. When the estate, which consists of mines near Athens, was thrown into the United States court, it was valued at $100,000. According to the trustees' 1906 report it was worth $249,998. With the heirs and grandchildren there are nearly 100 people involved in the distribution of the estate.

Some of them come to the United States court yearly when the trustees' report is filed. One of the heirs is Countess Romane von Overbeck, of Prussia.

Righteously Indignant.
The little boy from Detroit handed the Clark street conductor a coin.

The conductor handed it back. "I can't take that, bub," he said. "It's Canadian."

ALL ARE TO BE REINSTATE.

New York, Oct. 30.—S. J. Small recently deposed as president of the Telegraphers' union, who arrived in New York city today and was refused permission to address the local branch of the union at a meeting this afternoon, sent out a statement to the public "calling off" the strike. After reviewing his efforts to bring about a settlement advantageous to the strikers, and the action of the union in declaring his office vacant and electing a successor, Small says: "I feel it my duty as recognized leader and legally elected president of the aforesaid organization to issue this statement, declaring a chaotic condition to exist within our official ranks, and further declaring the telegraphers' strike unquestionably the greatest and cleanest fought battle of recent years, at an end dating from Wednesday, October 30, 1907, and on the following term: 'All strikers to be reinstated without discrimination, except those against whom serious charges can be substantiated, accused to have the privilege of making defense in writing through me, when their case will receive prompt and careful consideration. The ten per cent increase granted March 1, 1907, will be strictly adhered to. Other matters mentioned in the bill of grievances are to be taken up and considered upon my return to New York within ten days provided the strikers accept and act upon these instructions.'"

Small declares he is willing to "await vindication at the next regular convention in Milwaukee next June."

Operators Return.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30.—All Western Union operators here who went on strike last August, returned to work today. All Postal operators also decided to return to work and made application for their former positions.

Late last night Daniel L. Russell, chairman of the strike committee, issued a statement to the effect that if the telegraph companies are prepared to agree to reinstate all strikers, except those against whom serious charges could be proven, and guarantee the increase of last March be given without discrimination, and promise to arbitrate all other matters contained in the bill of grievances, the signers of the statement were satisfied they could pledge the committee to call off the strike within forty-eight hours. The statement was signed by Russell, Percy Thomas, Joseph F. Ahren and R. M. McLennan.

Hard Times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold remedy and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

THIEF GETS $14,000 IN BONDS.

President of Newport News Gas Company is Robbed on Train.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The police of this city tonight received information that William J. Payne, of Richmond, Va., who is said to be the president of the Newport News Gas company, the Newport News and Old Point Railway and Electric company, and connected with other large enterprises while on his way from Washington to New York City this afternoon, was robbed of a leather grip containing $14,000 in bonds and stock certificates. The robbery was committed, it is said, while Mr. Payne was taking a nap in a Pullman in which he was riding. He believes that the person who stole the grip left the train at Wilmington, Del.

OVERWHELMING

IS PROHIBITION MAJORITY IN BIRMINGHAM.

Will Close One Hundred and Ten Saloons in That City on January 1.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 30.—Revised returns from yesterday's local option election held in this county show a majority of 1,657 for prohibition, with eight rural boxes yet to report. The total vote in the boxes reported was 5,489 for prohibition and 3,832 against it. It is expected that the missing boxes will increase the prohibition majority to 1,800. The effect of the election will be to close 110 saloons in Birmingham on January 1 next, twenty-four in Bessemer and about twenty in Ensley and Pratt City. A law and order league has already been formed to see that the prohibition laws are enforced. A local option election is being held in Etowah county, of which Gadsden is the county seat, today.

BLEW INTO GUN'S MUZZLE.

Explosion Results, Taking Farmer's Head Off.

Harlan, Ky., Oct. 30.—Marion Ledford, a farmer of Cawood, blew his brains out with an old squirrel rifle and died instantly.

Young Mr. Ledford decided to take a rabbit hunt and went to the rack and took the old rifle down and walked out of the house on to the porch. He must have thought the gun was not loaded, for he set the breach upon the floor and putting the muzzle to his mouth began to blow when the gun exploded, the whole charge entering his mouth, passing up and out at the top of his head.

FROST AT HARDIN

NINE DEMOCRATS HEARD HON. MAC D. FERGUSON.

Speech Was Well Advertised, But
There is Great Lack of Interest
This Year.

Hardin, Ky., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Hon. McD. Ferguson spoke here in the interest of his ticket last night. By actual count there were 14 voters and 16 boys under 21 years of age. Five of the 14 voters were Republicans. The speaking was well advertised, too. The town has over 500 population.

ESTATE MUST PAY $20,000 BREACH OF PROMISE AWARD.

Houma, La., Oct. 30.—After fifteen minutes' deliberation a jury awarded Miss Fannie Bell Johnson $20,000 with 5 per cent interest since 1903, in her breach of promise suit against three of the heirs of Lazare Levy, residing in this parish. Levy was worth $100,000 and courted the young woman at her home at Cote Blanche. She claimed that they became engaged and he ruined her. Her father, B. R. Johnson, went to Levy and when he refused to marry her, killed him.

SPEND YOUR OWN MONEY YOUR OWN WAY.

Does it not seem strange to you that a dealer who tries to substitute, when you ask for an advertised article, should assume that you are not capable of spending your own money? Show him that you are by insisting on getting what you ask for and refusing any substitute. Substitutes pay him a larger profit, otherwise he would give you what you ask for, without question. Manufacturers of advertised articles produce large quantities, being enabled thereby to manufacture cheaply and furnish the public with high grade goods at the price of inferior substitutes. Substitutes are expensive at any price.

Dog-Tired!

It is good for you to work, but not good to get "dog-tired." If you are weak, only a little work will put you into that condition and you may find it hard to rally.

When this weakness is due to female disease, it is best to go to the root of the trouble and take Cardui. Cardui has been found to build up weak womanly organs, and should do for you the same as it has done for many thousands of others.

Composed of purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, ingredients, Cardui forms a safe and reliable remedy, of specific power over the womanly organs and without injurious after-effects, on young or old.

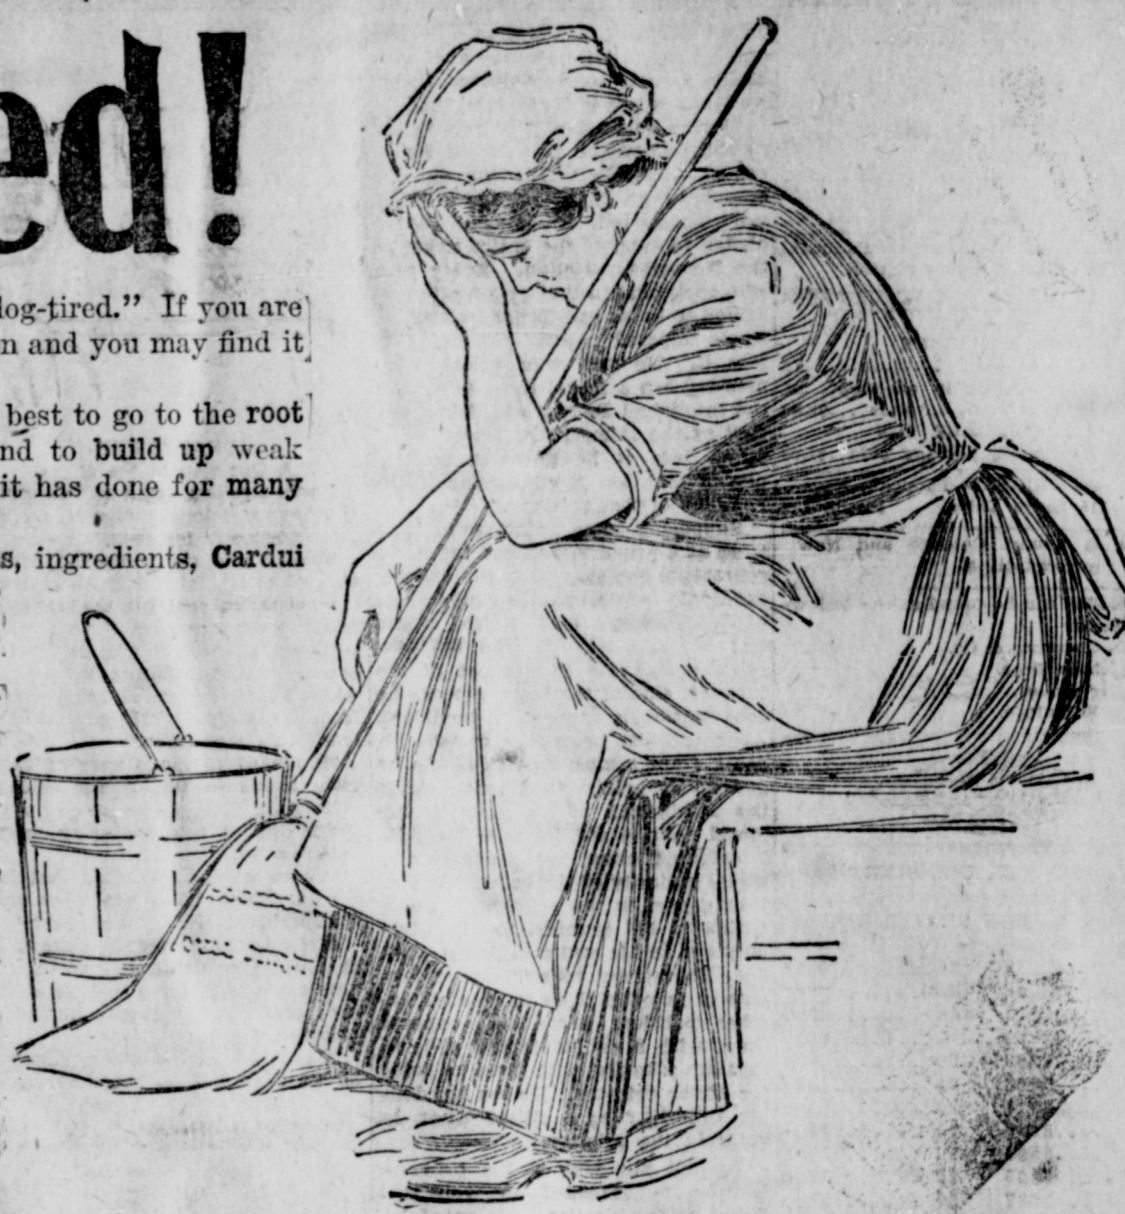

Take Cardui, when you are tired, exhausted, weary with the suffering and pains which come from the ills peculiar to women.

Take Cardui, when you are weak and lack the energy and ambition to carry on your daily work.

Take Cardui, for it is a woman's medicine, and, if you are a woman, it will surely do you good.

Cardui has been found, by thousands of weak, miserable, suffering women, to relieve headache, backache, dragging feelings and to give new strength, vitality and health.

Having been so successful, for so many years, in relieving the sufferings of other sick ladies it may surely be expected to do the same for you. Try.

Worlds of Benefit

Fish Creek, Wis., Jan. 27, 1907.

I will gladly tell you, as near as I can, what Cardui has done for me. I suffered from womanly ills for years. Every year it was worse. No one knows what I suffered. Lots of times I had to stay in bed and have a doctor, but instead of getting better I got worse. At last I chanced to see one of your ads and decided to take Cardui. After the third bottle I knew it was doing wonders. Well, I kept right on, till I had taken seven bottles and now I can truly say that I am cured. I can do a big wash the first day as well as the last. I can never say too much for Cardui. I tell everyone about it and have begged a neighbor girl to try it, as I know it will help her. I received worlds of benefit from Cardui, and will always praise it.

"I Could Hardly Work"

Laverne, Tenn., May 27, 1907.

I suffered for some time with womanly trouble, and all summer my health was very bad. I could hardly do my work. At fruit-canning time I was taken very sick, as a result of overwork during the hot weather, and my husband called a physician. He left some medicine, which I took without the least benefit. I suffered so much and grew so weak, that I became alarmed and told my husband he must get me some Cardui. I obtained relief almost from the first dose, and before I had taken half a bottle I was doing my work again. I am still taking Cardui, as I believe that it strengthens me and is good for my baby. I am always telling my friends what a friend Cardui has been to me. I think it is the best medicine made, for women.

DISAGREE

OPERATORS AND MINERS FAIL TO COME TO TERMS.

Three States Meeting is Adjourned
Until December 19 for Another Round.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 30.—A conference held here today between representatives of the coal operators and miners of the central competitive field, comprising Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and the western district of Pennsylvania, having for its purpose the re-establishment of the interstate agreement, failed to accomplish anything. An adjournment was taken tonight until December 19 when a further effort will be made to get together in this city. Vice-President Lewis, acting head of the Mine Workers, tonight took an optimistic view of the possibilities of another interstate agreement, and said there was no special significance to be attached to the failure of today.

The mine operators said that they would ask that the "basic point" for making the scale should be enlarged. At present the Danville region is the "basic point" for Illinois, and all wage scales in Illinois coal districts are based on a scale agreed on for the Danville district.

The Newspaper Man as a Writer of Fiction.

"How can a man best prepare himself to be a successful author?" asked an aspirant for literary honors of a well known publisher not long ago.

"Get a job on a newspaper," was the terse reply.

"But I am serious," said the other, "I mean to write books."

"I am serious also," replied the publisher. "You would be astonished along with most everybody else, if you could see statistics showing what percentage of our successful authors have had newspaper training. Of course in some cases it might hurt them who really had talent, owing to the pressure they have to work under, but to most the opportunity of seeing life under all conditions, of learning to express one-self clearly and concisely, of always observing details, and of seeing other cities and in many cases other lands, is invaluable. Rudyard Kipling, Richard Harding Davis, Jack London, Julian Ralph, Peter Finley Dunn—but there, a list of authors who began as newspaper men would be long indeed. Of course I don't want you to infer that I mean it to be absolutely necessary to start in as a reporter, but if one is to judge from the numerous examples before us, that is a mighty good way."

What the publisher said of authors might be said with equal truth of editors, especially of magazines, into whose ranks have entered many who were formerly of the newspaper world.

The reporter who represents his paper in other countries, especially during time of war or of other great happenings, gets a chance to store up a mine of information and experience which will prove of exceeding usefulness in later days. One press correspondent who has profited by such experiences is Will Levington Comfort, a western newspaper man who has been coming steadily to the front during the last few years as a writer of fiction. He was at Martinique at the time Saint Pierre was destroyed by the eruption of Mount Pelee, and he has made admirable use of his experience in a novel called "The Whited Sepulchre," which is published complete in the October Lippincott's. It is a very remarkable story—remarkably original, remarkably dramatic, remarkably true to life. The picture given of the eruption, and of the shambles which St. Pierre becomes as a consequence, does not suffer at all by comparison with Bulwer Lytton's famous description of the eruption of Vesuvius in his masterpiece, "The Last Days of Pompeii." The reader cannot fail to realize that in the writing of "The Whited Sepulchre" Will Levington

Comfort has taken a long stride up before the season ends."

Smilingly accepting the bouquet of cut flowers sent to him by an admirer in the grand stand, he stepped up to the plate, struck out, dodged a lemo thrown at him by a disgusted bleacher, and went and took his seat at the bench.

The best proof of the stoicism of men is that they never weep over a fellow going to the marriage altar.

Modesty of True Greatness.

Abou Ben Adhem had just found out that his name led all the rest.

"Still," he observed, with a modesty as rare at it was charming, "the sea is young yet. I've made a few lucky hits, it's true, but just as likely as not I shall be at the bottom of the percentage column in betting fellow going to the marriage altar."

PRIMARY—BEWARE.

Hereafter if any Democrat in Paducah desires to reserve to himself
the rights of a free American citizen to vote for whom he pleases for local offices, he is warned by the party organ to stay away from the primary.

Unlike any other party nomination,
the one conducted in Paducah implies
an obligation on the voter to support the ticket, even if he has to violate
every obligation of good citizenship, morality and decency to do it. In other cities, we have heard of the obligation being specifically imposed on candidates at a primary to support the ticket, if they are defeated;
but we never before heard of the voters being thus bound and gagged.

Indeed, the specific obligation imposed on the candidates, rather disposes us to the opinion that no such implied obligation rests on the voters.

Else why should the candidates be required to make such an agreement?

We had supposed any Democrat who voted that ticket the year before, was considered a Democrat and entitled to take part in the primary,
convention, caucus or whatever
method of nominating is employed.

A primary was held in Paducah last spring, and no one was warned before the city primary that he could not vote unless he intended to support the candidate nominated, even if he went into the primary for the purpose of trying to prevent the election of a certain man.

public until early next spring.

that candidate's nomination. On the other hand, all Democrats were cordially invited to participate. Now, we learn, when it is too late, that:
"Every voter who took part in the recent Democratic primary in Paducah at which Tom Harrison and his associates on the Democratic ticket were nominated, are under a sacred pledge to support the entire ticket at the November election. Every man who took part in that primary is presumed to know and to understand the terms imposed upon him by going into it. No man who entered that primary has a moral right to scratch
the municipal Democratic ticket, any part of the Democratic ticket, for by going into it he gave an implied pledge that he would support the nominee of that primary."

Supposing some great moral issue
is up at a primary, and one candidate represents one side of it, and another candidate represents the other side of it. Here is a man, a good citizen and a Democrat. He can not conscientiously vote in support of the immoral side of the issue, nor can he conscientiously support its candidate.
Above all else he wishes to save his party from taking that side. So he goes to the primary and votes against the domination of his party by immoral policies and immoral men. He is defeated, either by chicanery or by a real majority of the votes. By thus taking part in the primary, his obligation to his country, to his neighbors and to his own soul, is not satisfied. He can not conscientiously then vote in favor of those evils, when another political party has opposed
them with a candidate and policies, that are identical with those he voted for at the primary. He has not done his full duty as a citizen when he votes in the primary.

He did not vote in the primary,
because he intended to vote that ticket at the election. He voted because he was a Democrat, had supported the ticket in the past, and all things being equal, would support it in the future; but his freedom as a sovereign citizen was not surrendered to the politicians that happened, at the primary, to carry away the plums.
He still has the right to vote as he pleases. He still owes the duty to his country and himself to vote for the men and the policies that are best for the country.

There can be no honest difference of opinion on this subject. If the Democratic party adopts as a principle the theory that a man, who enters into a primary election, must support the whole ticket, then a warning should be duly published to that effect before the primary. Instead of an invitation to all Democrats to take part. The result of such a course, is inevitable. The vote would be limited to the "yellow dog" element of the party.

"A more efficient official I have never seen than George Lehnhard,
license inspector," is the tribute City Solicitor James Campbell paid the Republican nominee for city clerk
not many weeks ago. Mr. Lehnhard promises the same zeal in the performance of the duty of city clerk
if he is elected.

The News-Democrat boasts of the advisers Tom Harrison would have,
if he is mayor. Yes, we can see Charlie Graham now, chief of the "kitchen cabinet" and buying the groceries for the city.

Much interest centers in the outcome of the municipal election in Louisville, where Owen Tyler, vice-mayor under the Barth administration, seems to have successfully avoided the real issue and made the "open town" his slogan. The real issue in Louisville is the return to power of the infamous gang of election thieves and slugs, which the election of Mr. Tyler assures. Even those citizens, who sincerely believe in what they term "personal liberty," should remember what Mr. Tyler's candidate stands for. It is not the man himself, nor his policies, so much as the crowd that has elevated him to political prominence, that is a menace to the peace of Louisville.

One by one the cities near Paducah
are falling into the prohibition ranks. And still the interests that have the most at stake refuse to see the handwriting on the wall. Such farces as the Boyle case in the city court do effective work in crystallizing
a sentiment for absolute prohibition in towns that otherwise would demand only stringent restrictions.
Saloon men make a mistake voting
for loose enforcement of the law.

Genial J. J. Dorian, city treasurer, is surprising even his friends by the splendid campaign he is making for re-election, and the indications are that he will go in by a good majority. Mr. Dorian has made one of the best officers the city has ever had in any capacity, and during his incumbency has added to an already large number of friends.

It is a simple question before the voters of Paducah—who they want a business man,—one who has been tried and proven worthy of a great trust, to occupy the mayor's chair, or do they prefer a young politician?
As The Sun has more than once said in this campaign, Tom Harrison is a clever fellow,—as bright a companion as a man could want. It's all very well to compliment such men with our votes,—sometimes, but, when he seeks such an important position as mayor of as important a town as Paducah, we should seek to compliment
the town and put a man in the office
who is fitted by nature and education,
as well as environments, for the purpose of trying to prevent

CHAPTER III.

A Question in the Night.

I was stricken dumb at this end to the investigation, and half doubted
the evidence of my eyes.
"Well," said the policeman, with a sigh of relief, "there's nothing here."
I suspected that his doubts of my sanity were returning.
"Here is where it was done," I asserted stoutly, pointing to the spot where I had seen the struggling group from the window. "There were surely five or six men in it."
"It's hard to make sure of things from above in this light," said the policeman, hinting once more his suspicion that I was confusing dreams
with reality.

"There was no mistaking that job," I said. "See here, the alley leads farther back. Bring your light."
A few paces farther the alley turned at a right angle to the north. We looked narrowly for a body, and then for traces that might give hint of the passage of a party.

"Nothing here," said the policeman,
as we came out on the other street.

"Maybe they've carried him into one of these back-door dens, and maybe they whisked him into a back here,
and are a mile or two away by now."
"But we must follow them. He may be only wounded and can be rescued.
And these men can be caught." I was almost hysterical in my eagerness.
"Aisy, aisy, now," said the police-
man. "Go back to your room, now.
That's the safest place for you, and you can't do nothin' at all out here.
I'll report the case to the head office,
an' we'll send out the alarm to the force. Now, here's your door. Just rest aisy, and they'll let you know if anything's found."

And he passed on, leaving me dazed with dread and despair in the entrance of the fateful house.
Once more in the room to wait till morning should give me a chance to work, I looked about the dingy place with a heart sunk to the lowest depths. I was alone in the face of this mystery. I had not one friend in the city to whom I could appeal for sympathy, advice or money. Yet
I should need all of these to follow
this business to the end—to learn the fate of my cousin, to rescue him, if alive and to avenge him, if dead.

Then, in the hope that I might find something among Henry's effects to give me a clue to the men who had attacked him, I went carefully through his clothes and papers. But I found that he did not leave memoranda of his business lying about.

The only scrap that could have a possible bearing on it was a sheet of paper in the coat he had changed with me. It bore a rough map, showing a road branching thence, with crosses marked here and there upon
it. Underneath was written:

"Third road—cockneyed barn—iron cow."
Then followed some numerals
mixed in a drunken dance with half the letters of the alphabet—the explanation of the map, I suppose, in cipher, and as it might prove a clue to this dreadful business, I folded the sheet carefully in an envelope and placed it in an innermost pocket.

The search having failed of definite results, I sat with chair tilted against the wall to consider the situation.
Turn it as I would I could make nothing good of it. There were desperate enterprises afoot of which I could see neither beginning nor end, purpose nor result. I repented of my consent to mix in these dangerous doings and resolved that when the morning came I would find other quarters, take up the search for Henry, and look for such work as might be found.

It was after midnight when I had come to this conclusion, and, barring doors and windows as well as I could,
I flung myself on the bed to rest, and I sank into an uneasy slumber.

When I awoke it was with a start and an oppressive sense that somebody else was in the room. The gas-light that I had left burning had been put out. Darkness was intense. I sat upright and felt for matches that I had seen upon the stand.

In another instant I was flung back upon the bed. Wiry fingers gripped my throat, and a voice hissed in my ear:

"Where is he? Where is the boy?
Give me your papers, or I'll wring the life out of you!"

I was strong and vigorous, and,
though taken at a disadvantage,
struggled desperately enough to break
the grip on my throat and get a hold upon my assailant.

"Where is the boy?" gasped the voice once more; and then, as I made no reply, but twined my arms about him my assailant saved all his breath
for the struggle.

We rolled to the floor with a thud
that shook the house, and in this change of base I had the luck to come out uppermost. Then my courage rose as I found that I could hold my man. I feared a knife, but if he had one he had not drawn it, and I was able to keep his hands too busy to allow him to get possession of it now.
Finding that he was able to accomplish nothing, he gave a short cry and called:

"Conn!"

I heard a confusion of steps outside,
and a sound as of a muffled oath.
Then the door opened, there was a rush of feet behind me, and the flash of a bull's-eye lantern. I released my enemy, and sprang back to the corner where I could defend myself
at some advantage.

I could distinguish four dark figures of men; but, instead of rushing upon me as I stood on the defensive, they seized upon my assailant. I looked on panting, and hardly able to regain my breath. It was not half a minute before my enemy was securely bound and gagged and carried out. One of the men lingered.

"Don't take such risks," he said.
"I wouldn't have your job, Mr. Wilton, for all the old man's money. If we hadn't happened up here, you'd have been done for this time."

"In God's name, man, what does all this mean?" I gasped.

The man looked at me in evident
surprise.
"They've got a fresh start, I guess,"
he said. "You'd better get some of the men up here. Mr. Richmond sent us up here to bring this letter."

He was gone silently, and I left in the darkness. I struck a match, lighted the gas once more, and, securing the revolver, looked to the letter.
The envelope bore no address. I tore it open. The lines were written in a woman's hand, and a faint but peculiar perfume rose from the paper.
It bore but these words:

"Don't make the change until I see you. The money will be ready in the morning. Be at the bank at 10:30."

The note, puzzling as it was, was hardly an addition to my perplexities.
It was evident that I had been plunged into the center of intrigue, plot and counterplot. I was supposed to have possession of somebody's boy.
A powerful and active enemy threatened me with death. An equally active friend was working to preserve my safety. People of wealth were concerned. I had dimly seen a fragment of the struggling forces, and it was plain that only a very rich person could afford the luxury of hiring
the bravos and guards who threatened and protected me.

The fate of Henry showed the power of those who were pursuing me. Armed as I was with the knowledge of his danger, knowing, as I did not, what he had to guard and from what he had to guard it, he had yet fallen a victim.

I could not doubt that he was the man assaulted and stabbed in the alley below, but the fact that no trace

CONFERENCE

HELD AT BROADWAY METHO-DIST CHURCH.

Last Session Before Annual Conference Presided Over By Elder
J. W. Blackard.

The Rev. J. W. Blackard, presiding elder of the Paducah district,
held quarterly conference last night
at the Broadway Methodist church.
It was the final one for the conference year and marked by the usual number of important details. Reports were made on the condition of the church in its various departments, to be summarized for the annual conference report. These showed the church in a growing condition. The membership is 750.

The official board for the next year
was elected as follows: Active stewards: Messrs. B. H. Scott, George C.
Crumbaugh, Samuel T. Hubbard,
Charles R. Hall, Henry W. Katter-john, John L. Webb, Harry W.
Gleaves, Lem R. Ogilvie, Harry C.
Rhodes, Edward H. Bringham, Vernon Blythe, E. G. Stamper, William L. Young, J. M. Byrd, J. William
Hubbard, L. L. Jones, F. M. Mc-Gathery, W. A. Martin, John W. Little. Several other active stewards will be named at a meeting of the board next week. The honorary stewards are: Messrs. Thomas J. Atkins, J. V. Powell, R. A. Robertson and John W. McKnight.

Mr. John D. Smith was re-elected superintendent of the Sunday school,
a position he has capably filled for six or more years. Mr. Samuel Hubbard was made district steward. The official board will not organize and elect officers until after the annual conference.

It was voted to extend an invitation to the annual conference to meet in Paducah next year. It has been nine years since Broadway Methodist church last entertained the conference.

Dr. Blackard has seven more quarterly conferences to hold before the annual conference meets on November 12. Tonight he will be at the Trimbale Street Methodist church and the other appointments are: Brims-burg, October 31; La Center, November 2-3; Barlow and Wickliffe, November 3-4; Third Street Methodist church, November 6; Paducah City Missions, at Lone Oak, November 8;

Reidland district, November 9-10.

The Australian coast is unbroken
by any stream for nearly 1,000 miles.

The Health in Winter.

The best way to keep in good health in the winter is to pay just a little attention to the body physically, and,
by proper attention to diet and nature's warnings, avoid sickness.

More and more each year the profession is getting away from the theory of always dosing for disease, as a cure and a preventive, and prescribing natural treatments. We are thus getting closer to nature, and nature, as a restorer of the spent vigor and health, is coming into its right and just recognition.

The bath as one of the aids to nature is now given its due credit and attention. The cold bath in the morning imparts vigor and starts the day off with a tonic effect.

One of, if not the greatest baths
science has developed is the dry hot air treatment. In this the temperature can be run up to 300 degrees,
but, by a process which gives a free circulation of air through the machine, the heat is never oppressive.
This treatment opens thoroughly the pores of the most obstinate skin and puts it in good condition, and by the perspiration assists nature in eliminating the impurities from the system.

The after effects of the treatment is invigorating. Instead of being the least depressive, they are tonic, and for the tired-down, worn-out system,
it is a wonderful rejuvenator. Especially is this so, when the treatment is followed by the osteopathic treatment.

I am giving these treatments with marked success, and shall be pleased to tell you how and why it is such in a few moments, as well as refer you to Paducah people who will personally attest to the merits of them.

PEOPLE AND SOCIAL EVENTS

Pleasant Halloween Party.
The Junior League of Trimble Street Methodist church will give a Halloween party in Gallman's hall on Thursday evening from 7:30 to 10 o'clock. All of the children are invited to come and bring their parents with them.

Holland-Province Wedding Tonight.
The wedding of Miss Nell Holland and Mr. Paul W. Province will take place this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Eli G. Boone, 308 South Sixth street. It will be a beautiful home ceremony witnessed by a limited number of special friends. The Rev. S. B. Moore, of the First Christian church, will perform the ceremony.

From 9 until 11 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Boone will entertain with a reception in honor of the bride and bridegroom. It will be a handsome function with a large number of guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. Province will leave at midnight for an eastern bridal trip.

Miss Bradshaw to Wed Mr. Molloy at Eddyville Wednesday.

Miss Clara Bradshaw left today at noon for Eddyville, where she will be married next Wednesday to Mr. M. P. Molloy, of that city. Miss Bradshaw is the daughter of Mr. R. B. Bradshaw, the well known tobacco man, who has recently moved to Paducah from Eddyville, and resides in the Tandy flats. The marriage will take place at the former home of Mr. Bradshaw in Eddyville. Mr. Molloy is manager for a shoe manufacturing concern at Eddyville and the couple will reside in that city.

Beautiful Children's Party.

Miss Susan Porter Sleeth, the charming little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James P. Sleeth, is celebrating her fourth birthday this afternoon with a beautiful children's party from 3 to 5 o'clock at her home, 321 North Ninth street. It is a "Sun-bonnet Baby Party" and the idea is prettily carried out in many of the details. A doll's hunt is one of the delightful features. For this the girls will be given tiny doll sunbonnets of pink and white muslin and the boys small caps in the same color. The pink and white idea is effectively carried out in the decorations of the dining room, where pink and white brick cream, cakes iced in pink and white and mints in the same colors will be served. Over the table is suspended a doll dressed in pink, with a pink sunbonnet, holding streamers of baby pink ribbons. These extend to the four corners of the table to four dolls similarly dressed. The centerpiece is a beautiful birthday cake iced in pink and white chrysanthemums, with the four birthday candles lighted. The girls will be given pink crepe paper sunbonnets and the boys pink and white striped tall caps to wear into the dining room.

The big back hall has been artistically arranged as a woodland with autumn leaves, vines and a gypsy camp effect. It is lighted by jack-o'-lanterns and various Halloween amusement are about the hall. Miss Hannah Corbett, dressed as a gypsy, will tell the fortunes. The children will play here after leaving the dining room.

The little guests are: Frances Eaton, Camille Wright, Flo Armeh-trout, Katherine Foster, Ethel Livingston, Elsie Eunice Voris, Janie Rivers, Jennie Rasch, Elizabeth Smith, Elizabeth Graham, Virginia Hart.

Two tenders had left this harbor as usual to bring off the English passengers from the steamer. For some unexplained reason the Finland started to steam in without the assistance from tugs usually taken by big liners, and the accident happened.

SLAYER OF THREE IS SLAIN WHEN HE THREATENS OFFICER

Benton, Ill., Oct. 30.—City Marshal George Adams today shot and killed John Malone, former city marshal and well known as a gun fighter after Malone had threatened the marshal's life. A number of years ago Malone shot and killed a man at Hopkinsville, Ky. Later he is said to have killed a negro. Just before removing from Galatia, Ill., where he served as city marshal, Malone shot a man in the mouth, and a few years ago shot and killed John Houlehan in East St. Louis. He was tried for murder in each instance, but was acquitted.

Hits Federation of Labor.
Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—Chief Justice Clabaugh, of the District of Columbia supreme court, today issued a rule, on application of the Buck Stove and Range company of St. Louis, against the American Federation of Labor to show cause why an injunction should not issue against it and its subordinate organizations. The purpose of the writ is to prevent the publishing of the company's name on its "We Don't Patronize" list and in other ways harassing the company pending the hearing of the equity proceedings instituted last August.

Pleasant Social Occasion.
Mrs. Charles E. Richardson, 1643 Broadway, is entertaining the Grace church guild this afternoon. It is a pleasant social occasion. The annual election of officers will take place.

Manasco-Estes.
Miss Laura Abigail Estes and Charles Grover Manasco were married yesterday morning at 8 o'clock at the Second Methodist church, which was prettily decorated for the occasion with palms and cut flowers. The Rev. L. H. Estes, Jr., brother of the bride, performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. G. B. Baskerville, pastor of the church. The ushers were Albert Rabb, John Watson, Irving Fraser and Mr. Murphy. The bride wore a tailored suit of dark brown cloth, with hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Manasco left after the ceremony for a visit to the latter's grandparents at Mountain Grove, Mo. On their return they will be at home at 692 Pontotoc avenue.—Memphis Commercial Appeal, October 30.

Mr. Ed Maynard, of South Fourth street, has gone to Rockford, Ill., to accept a position.

Mrs. Rosa Harper, of Wingo, went home yesterday after visiting her brother, Police Judge D. A. Cross. Mrs. William Richardson and son, William, of Chicago, went home last evening after visiting the Misses Mohan, of Trimble street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. O'Bryan have gone to Clarksdale, Miss., to reside. Mr. O'Bryan is superintendent of construction for the Postal Telegraph company.

Mrs. Lucille Landon and daughter, Miss Birdie, of Mayfield, have gone home after spending some days here. Mr. Saunders E. Clay, the attorney, has gone to Henderson and Danville, Ky. He will be an attendant at a wedding in Danville.

Mrs. W. C. Kelly, of West Broadway, leaves today for Memphis to visit. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Kelly, of Indianapolis, Ind., who is her guest.

Miss Anita Thomas and Bessie Usher, of Mayfield, have returned home after visiting Miss Maurice Rye.

Captain James M. Browne has returned from Livingston county.

Mr. Arthur Dunn and family have arrived from Mayfield to reside.

Mr. Walter Beadles, of Mayfield, has gone home after spending several days here.

Mr. Harry Linn returned to medical school at Nashville this morning, after spending several days at home on account of the illness of his sister, Miss Mary Linn.

Supt. J. A. Carnegie will go to St. Louis Friday to purchase $250 worth of apparatus for the High school laboratory.

Hon. J. C. Speight, of Mayfield, is in the city today.

Mrs. Louis D. Kay, of Morristown, N. J., is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. M. Riker, 1627 Broadway. Mrs. Kay will remain in Paducah until Mr. Kay joins her later in the fall.

Mrs. A. M. Ogilvie has returned from Richmond, Va., where she had been for several weeks in charge of the O. L. Gregory Vinegar company branch during Mr. Cook Husband's absence. Mr. Husband returned to Richmond last week.

Miss Louise Hale, of Dyersburg, arrived at noon to visit Miss 'Lillie' Hobson.

Miss Annie Hale, of Mayfield, arrived today on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jennings.

Mrs. Emma Stevens, of Hickman, arrived today on a visit to Mrs. David L. Van Cullin.

Miss Maria McGregor is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. C. Rickman, on Bridge street.

TEMPORARY CLOSING.

Westinghouse People Say They Will Reopen in Short Time.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 30.—The confidence which has marked the local financial situation since the close of last week continued here today. A shortage in currency is causing inconvenience, but has not yet reached serious proportions, owing to the precautionary measures taken last Saturday by the Pittsburg Clearing House association to prevent such an occurrence. Today banking institutions began to charge $1 for New York exchange and checks have been payable through the clearing house for several days. Bankers and business men view conditions optimistically.

The following statement was issued tonight by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company:

"We desire to assure the company's customers that the manufacturing will not be interrupted, and that all orders received will be filled without delay.

"The receivership was found necessary on account of the present well-known general financial situation. The company's present difficulties are considered temporary."

IN THE COURTS

In Police Court.
Drunk, C. B. Russ, $1; breach of peace, Ed Butler, $1.

In Circuit Court.
Oscar Perkins was given a verdict for $450 against L. A. Lagomarsino. Perkins was injured while running an elevator at the Lagomarsino hotel.

Ira Fulkerson was given a verdict of $100 against J. A. McColium. The suit was for damages for false arrest.

PROMOTION SYSTEM.
Secretary Root Will Adhere to in Diplomatic Appointments.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Although the announcement of the intended retirement of United States Ambassador Tower in Berlin has brought out a number of applications from various persons for the post, it is the present disposition of the administration to fill the vacancy by promotion. It has been the design of Secretary Root to secure an even flow of promotion in the diplomatic consular service, with the result that every efficient official was inspired to his highest efforts by the certainty of reward of advancement. In the case of the Berlin embassy, if this case is adhered to, there is likely to be a general stir among the present incumbents of diplomatic offices.

Among other names that of Dr. Davis Jayne Hill, the minister of the Netherlands and formerly assistant secretary of state, is said to have been under consideration for promotion in this way to the grade of ambassador.

INDICTMENTS STAND.

Judge Dowling Holds Forgery Charge Against Robert Grannis.

New York, Oct. 30.—Justice Dowling, in the criminal branch of the supreme court, today denied motions made two weeks ago to dismiss two indictments for false reports and forgery against Robert A. Grannis, formerly vice-president of the Mutual Life Insurance company. Motions to dismiss on other grounds were immediately made, but no decision was rendered.

Following these arguments Justice Dowling heard arguments for writ of reasonable doubt in the case of Dr. Walter R. Gillette, recently sentenced to six months' imprisonment for perjury in connection with the insurance cases. Counsel were directed to present briefs tomorrow.

LOANS ON COTTON.
Texas Farmers Can Borrow Thirty Dollars on Each Bale.

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 30.—D. J. Neill, president of the Farmers' union, has returned from Houston and Galveston bearing the palm of victory, having completed arrangements whereby the farmers can secure loans of $30 per bale on their cotton. This proposition differs from the original tentative agreement entered into at Dallas last week only in being $10 a bale less than contemplated.

Small Wreck at Trimble.

Fulton, Ky., Oct. 30.—A small freight wreck occurred today at Trimble, Tenn., when several cars of an Illinois Central train went into the ditch. The train which was in charge of Conductor Pryor, was en route to Ripley, Tenn., to unload ballast when several of the cars left the rails. The damage only amounted to several hundred dollars to rolling stock and roadbed. The Fulton wrecker and crew were called out and the wreckage cleared up in remarkably short time. None of the train crew was injured.

STANDARD OIL CASES.
May Be Postponed to Special Term of Court.

Jackson, Tenn., Oct. 30.—It is more than likely that Judge McCall of the United States district court, will not take up the Grand Junction rebate cases against the Standard Oil company, against which the largest indictment ever found is pending, at this term of court, unless the department of justice orders him to do so. His preference is to try the cases at a special term set for that purpose. The demurrer to the indictment filed by the Standard's attorneys was overruled by the court, and the case passed until something definite is heard from Washington.

A VALUABLE PRESCRIPTION

—for—
RHEUMATISM, KIDNEY & BLADDER TROUBLES.

Published by permission of the Eminent Specialist, Dr. G. E. Flood.

We are glad to be able to publish for the benefit of our readers Dr. George Edmund Flood's famous prescription for rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles. Dr. Flood's remarkable success in treating rheumatism and all diseases of the kidneys and bladder has placed him first among all Specialists on these diseases. He attributes his success almost entirely to the following prescription. It is the result of years of investigation and experience. We publish it just as it came from the doctor direct to us:

Flood's Extract Cascara Aromatic 1 ounce
Concentrated Bark-Cela Compound 1 ounce
Aromatic Elixir 1 ounce
Syrup 1 ounce

One teaspoonful after each meal
and one at bedtime.

Children One-quarter to One-half Teaspoonful After Meals.
This prescription can be filled at any good Drug Store, or better still, the ingredients can be purchased separately and mixed at home simply by shaking in a bottle. If not in need of it now, we would advise our readers to cut this out and save it.

London's Grim Figures.

There are other figures, grimly eloquent. There is a standing army as the phrase goes, of 80,000 unemployed; add, still, 30,000 women badly employed indeed, and 33,000 homeless adults, and 35,000 wandering children of the slums, and 15,000 free criminals, and you have before you a statistical summary of the situation in the greatest city in Christendom. Interesting, is it not? And with those who do not walk the streets of night things are only a degree better. It is a fact that 90 per cent of the producers of the actual wealth of London have no homes they can call their own beyond the week's end no other possessions than the few sticks of old furniture that will go into a hand cart for trundling from lodging to lodging. And 200,000 people live in one room tenements, in which decency is impossible. Every night 30,000 Londoners sleep in four-penny lodging houses.

Senate Investigation Brings Out Tobacco Trust Funds Used by Democrats.

MURRAY SPEECH ANSWERED.

Louisville, Oct. 30.—The Courier-Journal says in a Murray special: Accusing the Republican candidate for governor of attempting to divert attention from his own connection with the Tobacco Trust by false innuendoes and charges, Judge S. W. Hager, Democratic candidate for governor, in his speech here this afternoon emphatically denied the story that the Democratic campaign fund had been augmented by money received from the Tobacco Trust. Judge Hager said Augustus E. Willson was trying to turn back the tide of popular condemnation which threatened to overwhelm him by an absurd and baseless charge. As in other cases, Judge Hager demanded of Mr. Willson that he produce the proof.

So Mr. Sam W. Hager, auditor of Kentucky, Democratic candidate for governor, denies the statement made by Mr. A. E. Willson that the American Tobacco company contributed $15,000 to the Democratic campaign fund.

Mr. Willson's charge was that this fact was developed some time ago in an investigation by the senatorial investigation appointed by the Kentucky senate.

Mr. Hager, in his speech at Murray yesterday, made it appear that the charge applied to the present campaign fund, when in fact Mr. Willson stated that the facts were brought out by a special investigating committee. The committee was composed of Senators Boole, Chas. Carroll, W. H. Cox and the late George Hickman and another senator.

The investigation brought out many interesting facts and when R. K. Smith, one of the leading men in the American Tobacco company, was on the stand the question was put to him, "Did your company contribute to the Democratic campaign fund?"

"It did," answered Mr. Smith. "It gave $15,000, and in return was given promises of protection."

Mr. Smith was on oath and did not hesitate to admit that his company had contributed to the Democratic campaign funds. There were many other corporations which contributed enormous sums to that campaign and there has been no secret about it. Just why Mr. Hager should so earnestly deny the charge of Mr. Willson is not known.

Mr. Willson had the evidence for his charge or else it would not have been made. The four living senators can prove the charge. If Mr. Hager sees fit he could easily have learned the facts from Senator Chas. Carroll, Senator Boole, Senator Cox or the fifth member of the committee.

Senator W. H. Cox was asked over the long distance phone for his statement of the matter:

"The senate committee did make the investigation mentioned and during the course of it Mr. Smith did make the statement under oath that the American Tobacco company had contributed $15,000 to the Democratic campaign fund. The transcript of the evidence is, I think, now in possession of Senator Carroll."

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now 83 years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dubuque, Ia. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children too, are greatly strengthened by them. ## GOV. BUCKNER STATES VIEWS

them that their personal aims would be better attained by an entire change of their purposes.

They accordingly remodeled their platform of principles, but retaining their former name, these Holy Pilgrims pursued their wanderings, re-lived the wayfarer of the burden of his purse, plundered the caravans encountered in their journeyings, and appropriated to their own use all the valuables that fell in their way.

Those of the original band who refused to follow this new avocation were, of course, stigmatized as deserters, renegades and traitors, unworthy to march under the immaculate banner of Holy Pilgrims.

In like manner the Democratic party in Kentucky maintained for nearly a century the rights of the people. It proclaimed equal rights to all, exclusive privileges to none; a ballot free from intimidation or fraud; a judiciary free from partisan bias; a rigid enforcement of the laws, the strictest integrity in officials; and the practice of public virtue in all classes of the community as the only true basis of patriotism in our republic.

But some ambitious men in the party seeking to promote their personal ends have succeeded in remodeling this creed. They met in Frankfort and proceeded to enact an election law so partial in its action that it robbed the people of all right to fair suffrage. This act of injustice was followed, as a natural sequence, by the frauds of the Music Hall convention, where the voice of a large majority was stifled by intimidation and every form of iniquity.

There the Democratic party was overthrown and a conscienceless machine, warring upon every principle of Democracy, was reared upon its ruins.

Though it was exultantly proclaimed by an enthusiastic Democratic orator that after the passage of the new election law, "if any stealing was to be done it would not be done by the Republican party," such was the indignation of the people that they overcame all the fraudulent votes which had been recorded against them and defeated the candidates of this machine by a decided majority; and the Democratic election commission, whose majority were men of honor and integrity, awarded the certificates to the men chosen by the people, and they were duly installed into office.

The Machine and Its History.

But the machine was not thus to be thwarted in its fraudulent purpose. A contest was instituted. The returning board was reorganized, and these slaves of the ring recorded the will of their masters by unseating the officers chosen by the people and installing a usurping minority in their places. With equal subservience the legislative body which first organized the machine registered the will of its creature by disfranchising without cause more than one-fourth the votes of the state in order to defeat the will of the people; and to give their action the semblance of validity did not hesitate to antedate the time of their fraudulent action.

What has followed since is a matter of history; some of it is judicial history. We have but to study the decision of our highest court to find the methods pursued by this machine. The right of the people to freely express their will in their choice of their officials is denied. Ballot boxes are stuffed with imaginary names; voting places are secretly removed contrary to law pending the election; criminals of every class are imported as repeaters and are allowed during their stay to pursue their vocation of robbery under the protection of the police. Honest election officers are driven from the polls; peaceable citizens are knocked down, beaten and imprisoned for no other offense than complaining of wrongs and offending policemen are publicly commended for their violation of law and promoted for their crimes against society.

If the stuffing of ballot boxes was inadequate, it has been shown that in the country the very trees of the forest, if not the heads of the field, have been recorded as voters to silence the voices of living men who protested against these outrages. An impartial election could not fail to set aside an election so attended by fraud, intimidation and violence as was that held in Louisville in 1905.

Reform the Machine Rejected.
The officials chosen by executive authority to replace the discarded officers were true Democrats who did not fail to expose the scandals and corruptions of those who preceded them; have enforced the laws against crime and have sought to bring the party back to its former standard of purity and patriotism; but the machine has refused to support them in their measures of reform, and has thrust them aside and substituted as their candidate for the highest office in the city a man who defies the authority of the state and openly avows his purpose to refuse to execute a law which is obnoxious to him. And this candidate appears to have the support of every candidate on the machine state ticket.

A Party Without a Platform.
In former times the Democratic party, through its chosen delegation, was accustomed to meet from time to time in conventions, to promulgate

WOMEN IN HOSPITALS

Experiences of Mrs. Rockwood and Miss Tierney

MISS MARGARET TIERNEY

MRS. CHAS. A. ROCKWOOD

A large proportion of the operations performed in our hospitals are upon women and girls for some organic trouble.

Why should this be the case?

Because they have neglected themselves, as every one of these patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in those dragging sensations, pains at left or right of abdomen, backaches, nervous exhaustion, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, and other organic weaknesses.

All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female system and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation—but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has saved hundreds of women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured more cases of feminine ills than any other one remedy. Such letters as the following:

PEOPLE'S LOBBY

GIVEN GREAT BOOST BY U. S. SENATOR BEVERIDGE.

What Good It Accomplishes in Getting Insight Into Pending Legislation at Washington.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 30.—Asserting that good government depends upon the quality of public men, and that information which the people obtain as to the action of such servants of the people, go to make up that quality, Senator Albert J. Beveridge, presided and addressed a meeting in his home city in the interest of the people's lobby.

The Indiana senator explained the purpose of the organization, and declared it is composed of high-minded, fearless, public-spirited men, who demand that the people shall have a lobby at Washington, the same as any other special interest maintain one.

James R. Reynolds, of New York, chairman of the executive committee of the people's lobby, and Henry B. Needham, secretary of the organization, also spoke at the gathering. Senator Beveridge spoke in part as follows:

"It is becoming clearer every day that good government depends on the quality of our public men. And the quality of our public men depends upon two things—first, the standard of public men which the people have, and second, the information concerning public men which the people have.

Purpose of Lobby. "The second is almost as important as the first; and that the people shall be informed as to what their representatives are doing, or failing to do, is the purpose of the people's lobby.

"It is the purpose of the people's lobby to tell the people just what their representatives at Washington are doing—not only what our final vote on any measure is, but what congressmen and senators do to hurt or help that measure before the vote is taken.

"Most public men are honest and informed, but not all. Some are ignorant of public questions and public measures; some of them are sincere; a few for special interests instead of the people's interests.

"As to those who are not informed and therefore not capable to do the people's business, it may be said that it is impossible that they should be informed or capable of attending to the people's business, considering their attention to what is called 'practical politics,' both at home and in Washington. They simply have no time left to study public questions, much less to master them.

Why They Lie. "Those who are favorable to evil interests (and most interests are not evil) and not for the people, make laws intended to correct those evils, or defeat those laws altogether. This is done in many ways, but not often in open fight.

"When such work is accomplished in open fight, the defenders of these evils always place themselves apparently on high moral grounds.

"When finally a good measure is passed over their opposition, they go home to the people and on the stump tell their constituents that they have been for such laws all the time, when, as a matter of fact, they have done all they could to injure or defeat them.

"Apparently there seems to be no

John Stanley, farmer, living six miles south of Paducah, Ky., says: "My little boy, aged 12 years, has been a sufferer from weak kidneys for a number of years. He did not have any control over the secretions and this caused us much annoyance, especially at night, as they would pass from him without his knowledge. He complained of his back pain, him very often and last summer his general health failed him. We were annoyed every night with the kidney difficulty and he complained of his hips and back all the time. We had a doctor from Louisville treat him, but one week he would be better and the next worse. I had often read of Doan's Kidney Pills so decided to give them a trial, and procured a supply at DuBois, Son & Co.'s drug store. He took them as directed and at the end of the first week he was much better, as he could control the secretions and the annoyance at night, which had caused me so much work and worry was removed. We continued to have him take Doan's Kidney Pills for three months when they had made a most complete cure and he is now strong and well."

HORSE HIT DIAMOND FROM GIRL'S ENGAGEMENT RING.

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 30.—One of William Lockwood's horses, on his farm near Bloomingburg, is a great pet of the family. As Miss Wilhelmina Lockwood was patting the horse's nose yesterday morning it leaped, then playfully, bit at her hand.

As luck would have it, the horse's teeth cut clean from its setting the diamond in Miss Wilhelmina's engagement ring. Naturally, the young woman was deeply distressed. Her father and the farm hands searched the stall, and most carefully the horse's mouth, but the diamond was not found.

A dreadful alternative presented itself, the diamond cost $250 and Miss Wilhelmina's fiancé cannot afford to buy any such. Lockwood had been offered $225 for the horse, and as has been told, the family is deeply conscious of the beautiful contour of her arms and shoulders.

"Do you know," she said, suddenly, "I've been in misery for a week. Sometimes I could almost scream with pain."

"Why, what's the matter?" he exclaimed, sympathetically.

"I was vaccinated last week and it has taken dreadfully."

His eyes fell and his gaze was curious. But he saw no scar. "Why, where were you vaccinated?" he asked, impatiently.

She raised her eyebrows and smiled sweetly. "In New York," she replied.

DIRECT PRIMARY

LAW WILL PASS THE ILLINOIS STATE SENATE.

Its Promoters Intend to Get Every Senator on Record in An Early Vote—This is Promised.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30.—Any attempt to juggle with the question of direct primaries in the senate this week when the upper house takes the Oglesby bill on second reading will be met immediately in a manner which may be more effective than pleasant.

A resolution has been prepared declaring it to be the sense of the senate that a direct plurality primary law should be enacted. It will be introduced if the opposition to the Oglesby bill endeavors to make any radical amendments in that measure.

Lieut.-Gov. Sherman has promised that there will be a roll call on it "in about twenty-five seconds after it has been introduced." Furthermore, the senators who do not vote, but who are present, will be recorded as voting against it.

It is intended that there shall be a complete record of the opposition to direct primaries, and that the senators who either vote against the bill or who oppose it by not voting shall be placed out in the open to take the responsibility for their opposition. The plan is to have the roll of the senate called to establish the fact of a quorum and then to vote such members as are present but not voting as against the bill, a power given to the chairman of a legislative body.

Hidden Opposition Not Effective.

The great advantage which the Oglesby bill has is that the opposition must come out in the open. Mr. Sherman's position on the measure is worth easily ten votes for it. He has told the senators all along the line that there shall be roll calls wherever there is opportunity for them. He has made it impossible for the direct issue to be avoided and every member of the upper house who is opposed to the Oglesby bill knows that his opposition if made effective will have to be open opposition.

If the senate had a president with different views on the subject it is likely that there never would have been a roll call on the straightway question of direct primaries or no direct primaries. The matter could have been settled in committee or in conference and the direct primary bill need not have come to a vote and no record need to have been made.

The resolution declaring it the sense of the senate that a direct primary law be passed will bring the roll call if it can be secured in no other way. It probably will not be necessary to introduce it. The opposition to the bill seems to have collapsed and the senators who are against it despair of being able to prevent the two-thirds vote necessary to make it effective at once.

Mr. Sherman has told various members of the senate that they "are right out on the primaries" with their fight and that the roll call on the Oglesby bill will be about the most easily remembered thing in the entire session of the forty-fifth general assembly. From Springfield the legislators go back to their districts with the primary campaign already beginning. They are too near to an election to make it possible for them to avoid the consequences of their action.

Politicians accept the passage of the Oglesby bill as a foregone conclusion and are considering the effect of it on government politics. The plan now arranged by opponents of Gov. Deneen is to use two candidates against him—Judge Willard M. McEwen in Cook county to cut down

The Story of a Medicine.

Its name—"Golden Medical Discovery"—was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients—Golden Seal root.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure, triple-refined glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots their curative properties much better than by the use of alcohol, so generally employed. So the now world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery," for the cure of weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness and kindred derangements was first made, as it ever since has been, without a particle of alcohol in its make-up.

A glance at the full list of its ingredients, printed on every bottle-wrapper, will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. All these ingredients have received the strongest endorsement from the leading medical authorities in this country and abroad.

A little book of these endorsements has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above. From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing the "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the above mentioned diseases, but also for the cure of all catarrhal, crural and throat affections, accompanied with catarrhal discharges, hoarseness, sore throat, hawking, or hawking-coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated are liable to terminate in consumption. Take Dr. Pierce's Discovery in time and persevere in its use until you give it a fair trial and it is not likely to disappoint. Too much must not be expected of it. It will not perform miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will. It will cure the affections that lead up to consumption, & taken in time.

his vote in Chicago, and Richard Yates against him down state.

A MOST WORTHY ARTICLE.

When an article has been on the market for years and gains friends every year, it is safe to call this medicine a worthy one. Such is Ballard's Forehead Syrup. It positively cures coughs and all pulmonary diseases. One of the best known merchants in Mobile, Ala., writes: "For five years my family has not been troubled with the winter coughs. We owe this to Ballard's Forehead Syrup. I know it has saved my children from many sick spells." Sold by J. H. Oehlschlaeger, Lang Bros. and C. O. Ripley.

Poetry.

The great publisher was in a playful mood. "Sir," said he, with an air of gravity, "in a hundred years your poetry won't be worth as much as the paper it is written on."

The Great Poet was much startled. "Sir," he faltered, "do you mean that?"

"I do, sir," replied the Great Publisher. "In a hundred years, the copyright having expired, your poetry will be worth about thirty-seven cents, in good cloth binding, while the paper it is written on, that is to say, the original manuscript, will be selling at auction for about $2,000."

"Oh!" said the Great Poet, much relieved.—Puck.

JULIUS CAESAR

Was a man of nerve, but sickness left his mark and he became aged before his time. Sickness is often caused by torpid liver. Herbine will regulate your liver and give you health. Mrs. Carrie Austin, Holton, Kan., writes: "I consider Herbine the best medicine I ever heard of. I am never without it." Sold by J. H. Oehlschlaeger, Lang Bros. and C. O. Ripley.

MIKE GALVIN

LAI'D TO REST IN OAK GROVE CEMETERY.

Funeral of Popular Railroad Engineer Is Held—Mr. Anthony Vogt's Funeral.

The funeral of Mike Galvin, the popular engineer, who died from injuries sustained in the wreck at Almo, was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at St. Francis de Sales church. Burial was in Oak Grove cemetery. The body was removed to the residence, 1227 South Sixth street, last evening. Mr. Galvin was 38 years old and had lived here nearly his whole life. He numbered his friends by the scores.

Mr. Vogt's Funeral.

This morning the funeral services over the body of Mr. Anthony Vogt were held at St. Francis de Sales, the Rev. Father Jansen officiating. The burial was in Mt. Carmel cemetery.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Leopold Petter, John Luigs, Edward D. Hannan, John J. Dorian, John Theobald and Charles Kirchhoff.

RIVER NEWS

River Stages.

Cairo	10.2	0.3	fall
Chattanooga	2.1	0.1	rise
Cincinnati	7.1	0.2	fall
Evansville	5.7	0.2	fall
Louisville	3.6	0.4	fall
Mt. Carmel	1.9	0.1	fall
Nashville	7.1	0.2	fall
Pittsburg	6.5	0.5	rise
St. Louis	7.3	0.2	fall
Mt. Vernon	4.4	0.1	fall
Paducah	4.0	0.2	fall

"Give us more water,—we have all the business in sight the most avaricious could desire, but can't get to it on account of the stage of the rivers," is the plaint of river captains. "Up the Tennessee there is just lots of cotton and the biggest peanut crop of years awaiting a good stage to get them to market," said Captain White, of the Clyde, today. "So we are scanning the horizon eagerly every morning for any traces of a rain cloud." The gauge today registers 4 feet, a fall of 0.3. The first of the month it was 8.6 and a year ago 10.5.

The Clyde came out of the Tennessee last night with a good load of lumber for Paducah and a diversified load for wayside points. She is loading today and departs this afternoon at 4.

The Saltito passed out of the Tennessee at 4 o'clock this morning, bound for St. Louis and had a good freight trip.

The American left this morning for Caseyville for a tow of coal for the West Kentucky Coal company.

The Richardson, in the place of the Dick Fowler, got away on time for Cairo this morning.

The Dunbar was the Evansville packet today. She failed to arrive yesterday. The Buttorff, which will take one end of the Evansville run, is laid up awaiting the arrival of the Hopkins' crew, which will take her out.

The Martha Henning came in yesterday from Cincinnati.

The Bluespot left today for the Tennessee river.

The Castella is due out of the Tennessee with a load of ties.

The Inverness is due out of the Cumberland with a load of ties today for the Ayer & Lord Tie company.

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio from Evansville to Cairo, will continue falling slowly during the next several days.

The Tennessee from Florence to the mouth, not much change during the next 36 hours.

The Mississippi from below St. Louis to Cairo, will continue falling slowly during the next two days.

RAILROAD NOTES

Col. John T. Donovan, general agent of the Illinois Central, received a letter yesterday from William Halley, a former employee of the road here, announcing that he had been made commercial agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad with headquarters at Monroe, La. Mr. Halley has many friends here, who will be glad to learn of his promotion.

Fred McCreary, foreman of the tank gang at the Illinois Central shops, was painfully injured yesterday by dropping a heavy piece of iron on his foot. The injury was dressed at the railroad hospital. Mr. McCreary will be laid up for several days.

Engine No. 289, which has received a thorough overhauling at the shops, was turned over to the round house crew this morning to be "broke in" for service.

Engineer R. Bean and Fireman W. K. Melton and M. M. Smith are off duty on account of sickness today.

John Smith, colored, was brought into the Illinois Central hospital yesterday from Rialto, Tenn., to have a piece of steel removed from his eye. The injury destroyed the sight of the eye.

plonship, the fourth round of a scheduled twenty-round bout. Attell knocked Weeks down five times in the fourth round and the referee stopped the fight.

Weeks was no match whatever for Attell, and the champion had him at his mercy all the way through. In the first round in less than a minute, Attell sent a swift right across to Weeks' jaw and he staggered back dazed and tottering. It was evident that Attell could have knocked him out then without effort, but he refrained from doing so while he punished his staggering opponent with jabs with both hands and Weeks hanging tightly. The referee separated them several times, Weeks clinging to Attell closely. When the round ended Weeks was groggy. The succeeding two rounds were tame and uninteresting. In the fourth Attell suddenly sent a stiff right punch straight from the shoulder to a point on the jaw. Weeks staggered and fell. Four times he rose but each time he was knocked down. Weeks then lay on the mat vainly endeavoring to rise and his seconds threw up the sponge.

Two Fights at Peoria, Peoria, Ill., Oct. 30.—In the third round of a scheduled ten-round mill last night Tony Capone, of Chicago, knocked out Jimmy Driscoll.

Danny Goodman, of Chicago, was given a narrow decision at the end of the tenth round over Duff Miller, of Chicago.

Baldwin Gets Decision, Baltimore, Oct. 30.—Matty Baldwin, of Boston, got the decision over Kid Sullivan, of Washington, at the close of a 15-round bout, during the course of which Sullivan more than once had Baldwin in bad shape but failed to follow the advantage.

Rumor of New Major League, New York, Oct. 30.—Rumors of the formation of a third major league to be made by the American association and eastern leagues, unless they are given better protection and the right to draft freely from clubs lower down in classification, and the protests from the Pacific Coast league for the winter season, and a dozen other sensations, marked the opening of the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues in this city today. But none were verified today. President Powers, of the national association, said the national officers had no intimation of the proposed third major league and Harry Pulliam, president of the National league, said that every club of the National association would fight such a plan to a finish. Players in the National league who are now playing with the Pacific Coast league have been notified to withdraw immediately on penalty of being declared outlaws. The secretary's report showed that there are thirty leagues affiliated with the association, comprising 195 clubs, representing 244 cities and 4,300 players.

Indians Say They Will Fight.

or Wednesday. The Utes are well armed and say they will fight if any attempt is made to compel them to send their children to school or to work.

The United States government is the largest individual purchaser of electric lamps in this country. It expects to reach there tomorrow night, says $50,000 annually.
